BRISTOL MAN HAS "GAS" RATION REVOKED FOR DURATION OF WAR; FRIENDS GAVE HIM STAMPS

James Galione, Pine Street, Reported to Have Driven Over 700 Miles in A Month On An "A" Ration Book—Other Cases Heard By The Board—Penalties Are Imposed.

With his gasoline ration revoked for the duration of the war a Pine street resident is a sadder but wiser man today.

It was at hearings last evening, held in the headquarters of Bristol Ration Board, that the case of James Galione, Pine street, was heard.

The board, upon investigation, learned through Galione's tire record that he had driven over 700 miles in a month's period on an "A" ration book.

When questioned, Galione merely replied that people gave him stamps.

With an "A" book taking a motorist only approximately 90 miles per month, the board decided that Galione must have rounded up a number of extra stamps from good-hearted "friends," and forthwith gave the penalty that shall end only with the war.

Another Bristol man was involved in a similar case, although not as flagrant according to the board. His tire record also showed greater mileage than he could have driven on his "A" and "B" books.

Sixth Ward Residents To Meet Again Tonight

Residents of the sixth ward who are interested in forming a volunteer fire company are asked to meet in Karp's hall tonight at eight o'clock.

A preliminary meeting was held last Thursday night at which time the plan was discussed and then consideration continued until the meeting this evening.

It is desired that a good representation be present at the meeting tonight, so that there will be a free exchange of ideas.

HERE AND THERE IN BUCKS COUNTY TOWNS

Activities of Interest To All In The Various Communities

GLEANNED BY SCRIBES

According to a representative of the County Treasurer's office, only about 7000 dog licenses have been issued for this year. The dog population in Bucks county is estimated to be about 20,000, and if this is correct, a large number of dogs in the county are without licenses.

Officers of Doylestown Council, No. 40, Sons and Daughters of Liberty, were installed at a meeting. Ex-Associate State Councilor Elizabeth B. Hoffman installed the officers. She was assisted by Margaret Conard and Amanda VanLuvane.

Officers installed were: Councilor Ethel Wilgus; associate councilor, Minerva F. Martin; vice councilor, Wilhelmina Chubb; associate vice councilor, Caroline Wilgus; recording secretary, Mary G. Haney; associate recording secretary, Elizabeth J. Meredith; financial secretary, Caroline M. Weiss; treasurer, Elizabeth B. Hoffman; guide, Frances A. Wipred; inside guard, L. O. Lyons; outside guard, Amanda VanLuvane; trustee, Minerva F. Martin; representative, Helen Gaine; alternative representative, Sophia Dietrich.

One proposition for membership was received during the meeting. "Secret pals" for the past year were revealed, and names were chosen for the coming year.

In session at their headquarters, members of the Chalfont Grange presented a program on Pennsylvania. The program, which included several discussions and essays, was

27th Anniversary Marked By P. O. of A. at Banquet

Places were arranged for 40 individuals last evening when the 27th anniversary banquet of Camp No. 82, P. O. of A., took place at Bowen's Restaurant.

Guests at the affair were soldiers from the Emile sub-station; District President Mrs. Samuel Robbins, and Mr. Robbins, representing the state camp.

Miss Dorothy Hellings, the orator, served as chairman. Miss Hellings extended a warm welcome to all members and guests, and introduced the president of the P. O. of A., Mrs. Wilhelmina Mummery.

CHILD ARRIVES

Mr. and Mrs. Tempo Pizze, of Spring street, are being congratulated upon the birth of a son on Tuesday evening in Harriman Hospital.

Should Value All Property

(By "The Stroller")
Some folks are certainly bent upon mischief and never lose an opportunity to damage property.

Several months ago the late Rev. A. Willis Bolte designed and made neat signs advertising the First Baptist Church and the hour of services. These signs were placed at the main entrances to Bristol. Two of the signs have been practically destroyed.

Why are children—and we believe it is the work of children—so bent upon destruction of the property of others?

Something is certainly lacking in the home training of those acting in such a manner. Parents would do well to impress upon their off-spring, whether or not they know the youngsters are inclined to regard lightly the property of others, the value of all goods, and the painstaking work and monetary value involved.

NEW DEFENSE COUNCIL FORMED IN BRISTOL BOROUGH

Wm. H. H. Fine Named As Chairman of The Group

HAROLD HUNTER, SEC.

New Council Consists of Most Members of The Old Organization

A new Local Defense Council was formed last night for Bristol. The membership is comprised of those members of the former council willing to serve and several additional new members. William H. H. Fine was named chairman of the council. The following comprise the council membership and the activities they represent:

Harold Hunter, joint committee; John E. Healey, air raid wardens; John S. Lynn, emergency police; Clifford Hagerman, fire protection; John S. Roberts, Jr., public works; William Devoc, public utilities; Devon Smith, industry; Linford J. Jones, police protection; Franklin Wallin, control center; Horace Schmidt, emergency aid; Mrs. M. D. Weagley, medical service; Mrs. Horace N. Davis, food bank; Chauncey E. Stoneback, Jr., Red Cross; Anthony Russo, Herbert A. Pettit, Joseph P. Duffy, and Serrill D. Detlefson.

In the organization of the council Harold Hunter was chosen secretary.

Burgess Clifford L. Anderson was present and addressed the group reporting as to the equipment which he had received and which was ready for distribution once the proper organization is set-up to receive it. Mr. Anderson said that gas masks, helmets, and four gallon water extinguishers have been received. In addition there are two 500-gallon pumps for fire protection. One of these he said would probably be placed in the sixth ward when the proper organization has been perfected in that district.

Mr. Fine suggested the names of six young women whose telephone numbers will be listed with the police department. When a yellow signal is received one of these women will be notified and she in turn will call the others. These six will then report immediately to the control center and take over the operation of the telephones in the control center.

The council decided to meet every Wednesday evening at 9:15 o'clock for the present or until such time as the organization details have been completed. Meetings will then be called perhaps every other week.

There was considerable discussion about spectators rushing to fires and accidents which have occurred recently. This was particularly true at the Rohm & Haas plant. It is to be the endeavor of the emergency police to stop this practice and plans are to be worked out by Chief Jones and John S. Lynn.

Spectators are to be kept away from scenes of such accidents and fires in the future.

Allies Advance Steadily in All Parts of Sicily

Advanced Allied Command Base—Crack American, Canadian and British troops, advancing steadily on all sectors of Sicily with no increase in their astonishingly small casualty list, swept to the gateway of Catania today.

Fall of that great city, where a population of 252,000 eagerly awaits liberation, became imminent when British forces captured Mellilli, a strategic road point in the interior of Sicily, making possible a flanking movement against Catania coincident with the coastal drive.

(Editor's Note—An NBC correspondent aboard a British cruiser in the Ionian Sea reported Allied capture of Lentini and Carlelino on the road to Catania and also told of the first heavy naval bombardment of Catania itself by an Allied squadron. Defenders of the town attempted to swing a giant train of railway guns into action but the mobile artillery in their astonishment small casualty list, swept to the gateway of Catania today.

Latest official word said the main British thrust along the coast, in which American units are now revealed to be participating, had reached a point four miles beyond Augusta. The spearhead thrust into the town of Brusa in what Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower termed advances of "considerable extent."

German forces at dawn attacked an isolated British brigade holding part of Augusta yesterday, but by mid-day the situation had been restored.

Despite difficult mountainous territory, the whole British line moved forward some six or seven miles, while American units operating north-west of Ragusa captured valuable ground and another important airfield, one of seven more air bases scooped up within the last 24 hours by the Allies.

Paralyzing Blows Struck at Messina

Allied Headquarters in North Africa—Paralyzing new blows to hamper further the disorganized Axis defenders on Sicily were dealt by Allied planes operating from North Africa and the Middle East today, with pulverizing new onslaughts aimed at the port of Messina across a narrow strait from the Italian mainland.

A communique from the headquarters of Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower coincided with another announcement from the Ninth U. S. Army Air Force at Cairo to describe the new attacks, in which at least three more enemy ships were blasted in the Tyrrhenian Sea.

WHEN ENEMY TORPEDO IS FIRED THE FOREMOST QUESTION IS WHICH SIDE OF THE BOAT TO JUMP OFF, SAYS CORP. CHAS. DOAN, BACK FROM AFRICA

When one sees an enemy submarine fire a torpedo the uppermost question in one's mind is which side of the boat to jump off, according to Corp. Charles Doan, who returned home on Monday from North Africa.

Corp. Doan, who was aboard one of the ships in the largest armada ever to sail the seas up to that time, reached North Africa last November 8th. On the ocean journey from this continent to England, two boats in their convoy were lost; and of the huge armada enroute to Africa four went down, states Doan, who is home on furlough and visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Doan, of Swain street.

Some of the main engagements in which he took part show names outstanding throughout the winter and spring in the news.

Prior to going to Africa some time was spent by Doan in England, Scotland and Ireland. Doan was the company radio operator, and he had several months of field duty, being in the desert most of the time.

BOWKER CAUGHT AFTER JAIL ESCAPE

Bristol Man Walks Away From Bucks County Prison Farm

AT LIBERTY SIX HOURS

DOYLESTOWN, July 15—A Bristol man, David Bowker, prisoner at the Bucks County jail, walked away from the prison farm yesterday afternoon at 2:30 and at 8:25 last night was caught by two jailers about two miles away from here.

Bowker was taken into custody by Harry Seifert and Carl Schlegel who were part of a group of State Police and prison guards searching for the missing man.

According to his captors Bowker put up no resistance and said that he expected to get caught. He said he was willing to take the chance of getting away so that he could see his wife from whom he received a letter yesterday, following a visit on Saturday.

Bowker, 21, pleaded guilty on July 7th, at a session of miscellaneous court before Judge Hiram H. Keller, to stealing $120 in cash and a $25 war bond from the home of Charles Walker, Fifth avenue, Bristol. He had previously boarded at the Walker home and knew where the family kept its valuables.

Bowker was sentenced to pay the costs, return the amount stolen and to serve from one to five years in the county prison.

According to Warden Earl Handy at the Bucks County Prison, Bowker received a letter yesterday from his wife in which she told him that she loved him dearly; that she could not get along without him, and that she was very ill. This in the opinion of Warden Handy upset Bowker to a great extent.

Yesterday Bowker was assigned along with eight other prisoners to work on the prison farm, outside of the prison walls. At three o'clock the guards missed the Bristol man and a thorough search of the vicinity was made at once. Bowker, it is reported, escaped about a half-hour before he was missed.

Prison guards and State Police traced the Bristol man in the general direction of Route 202. It is said that he crawled on his hands and knees for a distance of an eighth-of-a-mile in the direction of the home of Judge Calvin Boyer.

Bowker was visited by his wife Lorraine, on Saturday, according to prison authorities, and is said to have told her husband at that time that she was a prospective mother. She fainted in the jail and had to be revived.

Registration Is Slow In several Districts

DOYLESTOWN, July 15—Registration of electors continues to be rather light, according to the latest figures released by Registrar Robert F. Detweiler.

Of four districts registered by the three traveling boards during the latter part of last week—Bensalem, Falls and Springfield townships and Dublin borough—there was only one, Bensalem township, at which more than 50 persons appeared to be registered.

The complete figures on these districts follow: Bensalem township, 174 Republicans, 29 Democrat, 4 no party, 5 party changes; Dublin borough, 3 Republican, 2 Democrat, 1 no party, 2 party changes; Falls township, 23 Republican, 1 Democrat, Springfield township, 19 Republican, 21 Democrat, 1 no party.

Registrar Detweiler pointed out that the smaller number of registrants was especially surprising considering that during the past year the county has had an influx of workers for various industrial plants engaged in war work.

ARRIVES IN NORTH AFRICA

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Lavriga, Washington street, have received word that their son, Frank, of the U. S. Navy, has arrived safely in North Africa.

BRISTOL TEACHER AMONG INDUCTEES ENTERING ARMY

ONE TO COAST GUARD

Four of Group From This Area Assigned To The Marine Corps

In addition to the young men from this section who started training in the navy last week, a number of others inducted into service on July 1st are divided among the army, coast guard and marine corps.

Those who are to train in the Marine Corps left Bristol yesterday; and those entering the Army left here this morning.

A host of relatives and friends was at the railroad station this morning to bid the army inductees farewell. There was the American Legion Cadet Drum & Bugle Corps (Bracken Post), American Legion members, and the women affiliated with "36 for Victory." The latter distributed cigars, cigarettes and candy to the selectees.

The white men entrained for the downtown Gap, and the colored selectees for Fort Meade, Md.

Among those entering the army is Charles H. Quigley, Jr., who has been instructor of music at Bristol high school.

Joseph L. Walker, of 640 Bala street, aged 18, is the fourth of the brothers to enter the army. These brothers have been in training for some time, and one boy remains at home.

Those inducted into the army branches from jurisdiction of Bristol Selective Service Board No. 4 are:

HARD FIGHTING IN SICILY

Resistance being offered by the Axis in Sicily makes it appear that here may be weeks, instead of days, of hard fighting before that island stepping stone to Italy is conquered. Magnitude of the reinforcements being poured into the fight by the Allies should leave no doubt of the outcome.

Whether Germany and Italy have been successful in sending formidable aid to the Axis forces across the stormy Strait of Messina, which is from two and one-half to twelve miles in width and separates the island from Italy, is not clear.

Combined with major actions on the two other main fronts of the war—in Russia and in the Pacific—what is taking place in Sicily appears to be part of a global pincer movement by the Allies.

It has frequently been reported that Hitler wants his Japanese ally to attack at Russia's back door. But General MacArthur's spreading offensive is giving Japan enough trouble, and the Americans have been closing in on the vital Munda base. Japan would hardly be foolhardy enough to try something in Siberia in view of rising American power in the South Pacific.

There has been some confusion about the fighting on the Russian front, with huge Nazi losses claimed by the Russians. The Nazi high command seems to be straining itself to explain to the German public that it was forced to attack to forestall a Russian offensive. In view of the Sicilian development, it now is almost a story one could believe. It may very well be that the Russians were getting ready to strike in unison with Eisenhower. The whole global strategy adds up, even for the layman.

The conquering of Sicily will not be an easy matter. The island is almost entirely mountainous, and it comprises some 10,000 square miles. It has 4,500,000 people on it.

Sicily was known to have been heavily fortified. It contains many strong defensive positions, although it is reported that all Axis airfields were put out of commission early in the fighting. The Axis has determined not to give up the island fortress without a struggle, and the American, British and Canadian troops are in for what may be the bloodiest battles they have yet seen in this war. And this is only the beginning of the invasion of Europe.

Nazi health authorities are telling the Germans what to do when their knees start shaking during an Allied air raid. But how can a "cherman" dash for a rat hole when his legs refuse to function?

There is room for hope that Washington is having more success with its foreign propaganda than with its home propaganda.

Wheat yields are better than anticipated, again proving that the combine pump always tells its own story.

Medical science, which has stayed off death for years, should concentrate on taxes.

THE CAPITOL WHIRL

A Digest of Things Political Occurring At Harrisburg

By International News Service HARRISBURG, July 15—(INS.)

Gov. Edward Martin said Republican Presidential possibilities were not discussed at the recent Governor's Conference in Columbus, O., but he apparently made some observations of his own. He praised Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York although he did not definitely state he favored the former "gang busting" district attorney as the party's choice. The Governor refused to comment upon the possibility of Gov. John W. Bricker of Ohio winning the G. O. P. nomination. "He's a bright fellow," the Governor said of Dewey. "He handled himself well at the conference. He's smart, too, because even though that New Deal crowd went after him he still came up on his feet."

Governor Martin's praise for Dewey was rather surprising because Martin served as a delegate to the 1940 Republican Presidential convention in Philadelphia and attempted to keep the Pennsylvania delegation in line for former Gov. Arthur James as long as possible. When it appeared hopeless for James, the delegation ignored Dewey and was "set up" for former Gov. Robert Taft of Ohio but was thrown into Wendell Willkie's corner by former U. S. Sen. David A. Reed when Willkie's nomination had become a foregone conclusion.

Soldiers stationed at the Indian-town Gap military reservation near Harrisburg have a 70-acre Victory garden in addition to some livestock. Governor Martin has disclosed. Tended mostly by convalescent patients confined to the post hospital, the garden serves as a means of occupying the time of young soldiers not used to inactivity. Governor Martin said the "farm" included 40 steers, 67 pigs and 240 chickens in addition to the garden acreage.

Public Utility Commission Chairman John Higgins, Jr., has a hobby which he kept secret from his colleagues. He is a "whittler." One of his most realistic works is a carving of former Commissioner Richard J. Beamish, who retired recently. Higgins has turned out an exact copy of Beamish, including a "bay window" and eyeglass cord attached to glasses set horizontally on the nose.

Corp. Marty Walsh, of the State Police, assigned to the Governor's office, has become what he calls a "plain dirt farmer" and carries on a running feud with Charles Rugaber, one of the Governor's secretaries, over the new types of vegetables grown in their respective Victory gardens. Walsh claims he has doubled the productivity of his tomato vines by planting them alongside sweet peas that stretch the vines and double the number of tomatoes. Rugaber says he has planted lima beans next to corn and will have succotash when the beans grow into the corn husk and mix with the kernels.

VARY THE WAYS OF SERVING TO MAKE VEGETABLES CLICK

By Mrs. Katharine G. Moon (Home Economics Representative) Vegetables, as good as they are for everyone, become slightly uninteresting if always served in the same way.

All vegetables can be dressed up differently when they appear on the dinner table. Herbs, sauces, and other seasonings add a new flavor to any vegetable.

Fresh asparagus is pretty as a picture when served steaming hot, seasoned with melted butter or hollandaise sauce. When cooked in milk it retains most of its luscious green color. On the cold side, asparagus salad served with a tart French dressing and a sprinkling of hard cooked egg is enough to whet anyone's appetite.

String beans fresh from the garden are tasty and different when served with butter in which chopped onions or chives have been cooked. A sprig of basil, summer savory, sweet marjoram, or sage gives cooked string beans a delightful flavor. Usually two or three leaves of the herb may be enough.

try serving with a mustard or a sweet-sour sauce. Or a spinach soufflé may hit the spot. Most vegetables are good served with a cream sauce to which a little chopped parsley has been added. In most cases the small amount of water in which the vegetables were cooked can be used for a part of the liquid in the cream sauce. Some of the food value remains in this cooking liquid and there's no need to pour it down the drain.

RAISE MORE TURKEYS TRY BEET TOPS

FORT COLLINS, Colo.—(INS.) If the war should make it impossible for you to get plenty of oranges, grapefruit and tomatoes, try sugar-beet tops as they can supply one of the important items of health-protecting diet. This was the advice of Dr. W. E. Pyke of the Colorado State College experiment station at Fort Collins, who has found that sugar-beet tops are an excellent source of vitamin C.

sulfanilamide powder on the cut, and applied compress bandages. "I felt very weak and dizzy and didn't feel better when I noticed storm clouds gathering."

"It rained and blew all night and I hauled out the water six or seven times but there was always two or three inches in the bottom of the raft. For the next two days I paddled with my hand paddles. My forearms were raw and chafed from the friction with the sides of the craft. I took a bite of chocolate and an occasional sip of water.

"It rained again that third night and I tried to continue paddling but a big fish hit my hand. I don't know what kind it was but the experience taught me not to row at night. I don't recall that I slept at all—I just seemed to lie in sort of coma.

"Several fish came quite close but I didn't try to catch any. I lost one of my paddles and later lost the other one. I continued to paddle with my hands until about six o'clock when I suddenly spotted land.

"I headed right in for the surf didn't look too bad. It was a big mistake. When I got in closer I saw waves that must have been 50 feet high. It was the biggest surf I've ever seen."

A wave flung Maxwell later determined he was on Tetipari Island. He sorted his equipment and made for the western end of the island from which he would try to reach Rendova.

"I ran across a crocodile in a channel on the beach but we parted company at once," Maxwell added. For four days he roamed the island, several times turning over the beach into the jungle. His food ran out, and he ate fern leaves and crabs and mussels picked up on the beach.

"The mussels were rather slimy when I first ate them but I washed them after that and they tasted pretty good," he said. One afternoon he sighted Rendova in the distance, fashioned a pair of oars from some drift-wood and set out.

"Once again as I neared the beach the waves upset the raft and tossed me ashore," continued the lieutenant. "Again I was lucky enough to save the boat. As I staggered out of the water I heard some shouting. There were two natives in a canoe about 50 yards off shore."

Maxwell said the natives proved very friendly. They brought him water and taro (a root food) and took him to their village on the east end of the island. "I met the chief's son," continued the lieutenant. "He had been educated in a mission school and was very interested in American."

"The next day on a map, I showed him where I lived in the United States. I also met a chief who proved to be a Seventh Day Adventist and spent all afternoon talking to him. Finally, several natives took me in a dory to New Georgia. "The natives were very kind."

They even insisted on carrying me ashore. They were all husky with bushy red hair. Their coordination and rhythm when rowing was beautiful to watch and I think they would give the best college crews a trimming."

Maxwell subsequently was picked up by a PBY and taken back to his base by eight of his squadron mates.

"I was certainly glad to see their faces as they flew alongside and peered out at me," he concluded.

USO CLUBS HELP WAR BRIDES AND GROOMS TO 'GET HITCHED'

By International News Service
NEW YORK, July 15—(INS)—June Brides will be plentiful this year, now that Cupid is wearing khaki and hanging around the country's USO Clubs. Not that he waits for June to roll around. Now, every month of the year, he's the busiest little arrow-shooter on record.

Records of the National Catholic Community Service which, throughout the country operates under USO almost 400 service-men's and women's clubs, for every religious denomination, reveal that sometimes as many as 40 weddings a week have been arranged. The poor padres—the ministers and rabbis—are driven to it, tying knots.

NCCS operated clubs have found themselves the center of romance, and have had to organize special committees to take care of the traffic. Is it a Lutheran wedding that is required? The director gets in touch with the town's Lutheran minister, who hastens to the club, where he finds bride and groom, provided with all the trimmings, including bridesmaids, and the marriage is performed under the USO banner—or, if the couple desire, in church, with a reception following at the club.

If a Catholic wedding is in order, a nuptial Mass in a nearby church is arranged, with due solemnity followed by due gaiety at the club. Frequently the bride comes from a great distance to marry her soldier-boy if he is not able to obtain a furlough for a home-town wedding.

The USO has found that in the haste of war-weddings, brides often arrive without:

- Mother.
- Hope-chest.
- Trousseau.
- Finger-wave.
- Birth or baptismal certificate.
- Common sense.

While the groom frequently comes in from camp without:

- Wedding license.
- Ring.
- Witness.
- Common sense.

It is up to the USO to supply the missing links. A substitute is provided for the bride's requirements a, while b, c and d are hastily arranged, and e is secured. But not e can be done about f.

As for the groom, requirements a, b, and c are provided—but even less can be done about d.

Cupid-in-Khaki reports that this has always been so—that it should not be blamed on the war. So the NCCS clubs go on bustling about their business of securing music, wedding-cake, and party, with even rice thrown in—or at.

A club in Jacksonville, N. C., was called on to do such a large business in weddings that it organized a permanent "Bridesmaids Committee." Eight young women of the town, USO volunteers, went forth a few months ago and purchased eight formal bridesmaid dresses in a soft shade of blue. At last word, the dresses were showing hard wear; the committee is figuring on new ones.

There's a director out in Seattle, Wash., who personally has arranged 143 weddings within less than a year. On at least one occasion, it was a double ceremony, although the couples had not met until they approached him about their wedding plans.

A young woman club director in Columbia, S. C., has herself been a bridesmaid in more than three dozen weddings over a short period of time.

Cupid-in-Khaki also reports that, after USO clubs, the taxi-drivers are his greatest aids. And that when a taxi-driver enters the picture, no wedding is too good for the military. For instance, not long ago in New York City, a young soldier with girl, hailed a passing cab.

"Buddie," said the soldier, "we want to get married. Right away. Can you tell us how to fix it?"

"Step right in," smiled the driver. Off he whisked them to the NCCS club on East 51st Street. There it was learned that the couple wanted an Episcopal wedding. The director telephoned fashionable St. Bartholomew's Church, which happened in this instance to be the "Church Around the Corner."

Luckily its famous choir, with organist, was at that moment in rehearsal. One of its officiating clergyman also was available. Result: Soldier and bride, within less than an hour, were accommodated with a wedding in as fashionable a setting as though it had been planned months before by a Park Avenue papa and mamma. Following, the NCCS "threw" a wedding breakfast in the beautiful Sturgis mansion which now houses the club.

A club in Paso Robles, California, a few months ago was able to dry at least one bride's tears, and unfurl one military brow, in this fashion: The wedding had been scheduled for that very afternoon. At two o'clock, a wee-begone bride entered the club. She had just learned that the groom could not be relieved from duty in time to secure the license which had to be picked up in San Luis Obispo, the county-seat, 30 miles away. Cupid nudged the director's elbow. All three hopped into his car and sped for the license.

The wedding came off as scheduled, performed by the Lutheran chaplain, with an NCCS recording-machine making a record of the service for the bride to send back to Chicago to her parents, so that they might "listen in" on the home vicrola.

GREEN AND YELLOW VEGETABLES PERFECT PARTNERS FOR MEAT

By Mrs. Katharine G. Moon
(Home Economics Representative)

Green and yellow vegetables fresh from the garden are perfect side partners for meat and potatoes. The smart homemaker fixes these vegetables so they keep that fresh garden look and taste, along with the vitamins and minerals we need to help keep us healthy.

The secret to success in serving vegetables so the family will enjoy them is to select fresh, tender, young vegetables, cook and season them properly, and serve them attractively.

Use vegetables as soon as you can after they come from the garden and cook just what you need for one meal. If there are leftovers, use them in a salad, or in a soup, or a casserole dish.

To make the most of what Mother Nature put into vegetables here are a few simple rules:

1. Use little water slightly salted. Use only enough water to prevent vegetables sticking to the pan. Have water boiling when you put vegetables in kettle. Greens need only the water clinging to the leaves.
2. Cook a short time, only until vegetables are tender. Never add soda to the cooking water—soda destroys vitamins.
3. Leaving off the lid helps to keep the green color of vegetables. Root vegetables may be cooked in a covered kettle.
4. Slice or dice root vegetables to cut cooking time.
5. Serve vegetables in their own juice, or if too much, use it in soup, sauce, gravy, or vegetable cocktail. That's being thrifty with the vitamins.

Season vegetables to taste. The easiest way to season a plain cooked hot vegetable is to add salt and pepper to taste and a little meat drippings or melted fat or butter, just before ready to serve. To give more lift now and then, drop in a little chopped onion, green onion tops, parsley, or chives. A little milk may be added at the last minute to cooked carrots, turnips, or onions.

Use vegetables that are available and vary the ways of serving them so each member of the family will leave a clean plate.

was due originally to the great forests of hemlock trees which covered so many million acres of the State's area. Hemlock bark was of such great importance in the tanning of leather that a great industry developed at points accessible to the products of this great forest.

In the course of time, methods of tanning and finishing leather were changed by modern technology but the traditions remained and Pennsylvania has maintained its place in the production of this material, now so vital for both civilian and military needs. That the Commonwealth has increased, and is still increasing its production of shoes, and that the industry is now active in 16 counties of the State, promises to be one important item in the post-war prosperity of the Commonwealth. For however greatly fashions may change, the contact of the human feet with Mother Earth is one of the few things that we can reasonably predict will continue on indefinitely into the future.

Some forms of post-war planning show symptoms of needing to be brought down to solid earth, but Pennsylvania's continued growth in the boot and shoe industries is certainly an encouraging sign that the manufactures of the Commonwealth will be starting off on solid ground.

A Spread For Bread

By Frances Lee Barton
SPREAD for bread — and crackers too.

On zwieback gives a flavor new. On melba toast it hits the spot. On cookies it will help a lot. It's made with foods you have on hand. When made, it keeps to beat the band.

It's healthful, and a kiddie's "must." This recipe will please, I trust.

Peanut Chocolate Spread
½ package semi-sweet chocolate chips; 1½ tablespoons milk; 2 tablespoons peanut butter.

Melt chocolate in top of double boiler. Cool to lukewarm, add milk and blend. Add peanut butter and mix thoroughly. Let stand until of right consistency to spread.

Spread on crackers, cookies, melba toast, or zwieback.

Note: This spread may be kept several days in covered jar in refrigerator. To use, reheat over hot water and let stand until of right consistency to spread.

FASHION PARADE

By Garry Kelly
(Famous Hollywood Stylist Writing For International News Service)

HOLLYWOOD—(INS)—Fashion carries on in spite of war and limitations. In fact, creative spirit and free expression in design seems to have widened its scope, even though the conservation exhibited in new fashions goes way beyond the new L-85 (clothes restrictions) order. Most noteworthy points of conservation are these:

Skirts are much narrower than they need be; jackets are shorter than the law's limit; sleeves are usually much slimmer than allowed.

Miss Alexis Smith, who stars with Joan Fontaine and Charles Boyer in Warner Bros. "The Constant Sinner," dined at the Players the other night in a chemise-slim, cap-sleeved dress of black sheer. A wide, low neckline was accented at the center with a stunning clip of diamonds and sapphires. A sash, ending in long, fringed ties, points up the natural waistline. Alexis wore a beret of blue ostrich that sat straight on over her pompadour, completed the ensemble with long black gloves, black sandals and bag.

Black chiffon was worn recently by Irene Dunne at the dinner here in the Beverly Hills Brown Derby. The bodice was tucked chiffon with black net trim, had tiny puffed net sleeves and a sweetheart neckline edged with net. A pair of canary diamond clips was used to accent each side of the neckline. Her hat, one of the new Flemish frets, was of black satin and net.

Joyce Reynolds, young Warner Bros. actress, looked cool and smart lunching at the Hollywood Brown Derby recently. She wore a summer white suit of light weight wool, tailored precisely and featuring neckline and front closing, edged with navy blue at the collars. In fact, creative spirit and

BRITISH BEACHES BUSY DESPITE NAZI RAIDERS

By International News Service

LONDON—(INS)—Despite a new Nazi terror practice, that of machine-gunning sunbathers along southeast beaches from the air, Britain's seashore resorts today are enjoying the best business season since the war began.

So great has been this summer's rush to south and southwest coast beaches in England, however, that a serious food shortage has been caused in some areas.

Official government requests not to travel, and the stronger deterrent of beach-rafting by Focke-Wulfes, have apparently had little effect on vacationers.

New coastal defenses are being set up against the wave-skimming raiders who flash above the beach at 400 miles per hour, machine-gunning and cannonading women and children sunbathers indiscriminately. High-velocity, one-man anti-aircraft guns have been employed at a great number of points to beat off such attacks.

Today's Quiet Moment (By the Rev. James R. Galley) Pastor

O God, our Father, we praise Thy Name for the Light which entered into the world in the Person of Jesus Christ Thy Son. Grant that we might not love the darkness more than the light, and thus suffer the same condemnation which was uttered upon those who rejected Christ during His earthly ministry. May we allow this Eternal Light to dispel the darkness of the world today and bring once more that peace, both physical and spiritual, which the entire world craves. Through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen.

Mosquito Boat With Powerful Punch

Guarding the Panama Canal, this PT Boat can sink 'em, or blow 'em up. On the lookout for hostile submarines, the U. S. Navy mosquito boat skims through Caribbean waters patrolling for enemy marauders.

It takes $145,000 of money in War Bonds to build this boat for our vital protection.

SHOES SHOULD BE GIVEN GOOD CARE TO MAKE THEM LAST

By Mrs. Katharine G. Moon

(Home Economics Representative)

With fewer pairs of shoes available for each person, who wants to squander a pair?

One benefit which may be derived from shoe rationing is that women especially will be more careful to buy shoes that fit properly and take good care of them.

Everyone is walking more and so realizes the importance of having well-fitting shoes and getting them to wear from them.

Here are a few things I suggest to keep shoes in good condition:

1. Put shoes on properly by using a shoe horn to avoid broken counters.
2. Always put shoetrees in shoes when you take them off. If you do not have these, stuff loosely with newspaper.
3. Wipe off dust before putting shoes away, and keep shoes in a dry, airy place, preferably on the closet floor.
4. If you have two pairs of shoes for walking, alternate them every day or two.
5. Avoid getting shoes wet, but if it happens, wipe off dirt and moisture, stuff with newspaper or put in shoetrees and dry away from direct heat. Oil the leather of walking shoes while damp.

Faith Clarke's SHOPPING TIPS FOR BUDGETEERS

MEASURING PITCHER! And it is handy! Like a glass measuring cup, only tall and gracefully shaped, holding eight tea-cups or more. However, this per pitcher has dry and liquid measures molded on the sides and all sorts of information about butter and sugar measurements, canning, and the like. Many of the pitchers are being sold for bridal shower gifts and for week-end hostesses. Price? Ridiculous! 50¢! The Snellenburg China and Glassware Dept. (3rd fl.)

BIGGER VEGETABLES! Feed them well! The Snellenburg Garden Corner (1st fl.) specializes in Victory Garden fertilizers, recommends a special "peat" for mixing in the soil of vegetable or flower gardens. Varying amounts, from 50 lbs. at $1.79 and 100 lbs. at only $2.95. This department has a fine "Hyper-Humus" at only $1.95 for 100 lbs. Can be delivered, too.

I'VE SEEN IT DONE! I'm talking about a truly "professional" job of wall painting by an amateur. I wouldn't have believed it. But there they were, walls with a lovely flat finish an interior decorator would approve, and all achieved by two inexperienced feminine hands. Put this new water paint right over old paint or wall-paper. A room can be done in three hours, from start to finish. One coat hides and dries in one hour. No streaks, however put on, no paint smell. Just mix the powder with water from the tap. Decorator-selected soft colors. It costs about $2.50 to paint the average room, $1.48 for 5-lb. pkg. My teen-agers are doing over our apartment! State your color preference. Ask for the new "Dolly Dray" at the 3rd fl. Snellenburg Paint Counter. Oh, yes, a "roller" for putting on the paint quickly is priced at 79¢.

GIFT WALLETS for Service folks or civilians, men or women, have just arrived in the Handbag Dept. (1st fl.) of the Snellenburg Store. These are genuine leather and made on the new "multiple" pattern, so that they open somewhat like the pages of a book. There are "windows" in these "pages" for displaying 5 photos or cards or passes. Tuck pocket for change. Three gold initials free. Black, brown, red, green, tan. Nice. Only $1 and they make grand gifts.

P.S. Shop personally—this friendly store is located at 11th and Market Sts. Order by mail. Or phone free (5c, 10c, and 15c out-of-town calls only)! Pennsylvanians call ENTERPRISE 10160. New Jersey "Budgeteers" call WX 1150. Philadelphia, PA 111.

NEWS FOR CANNERS! Grand Mason jars by the hundreds of dozens can now be bought in the China and Glassware Dept. of the Snellenburg Store. This is a big shipment, but I advise you to order promptly. Jars are complete with rubbers and with the well-liked metal-and-glass combination screw tops. Pints, 96¢ per dozen; quarts, 98¢ per dozen. Plenty of jars for sale, too. Regular size 1 1/2 for 2 dozen, and wide-mouthed rings at 2 dozen for 15¢. Extra metal-and-glass tops, 35¢ per dozen. Popular "Seal-All" lids with attached rubbers are priced at 20¢ per dozen. Get your orders in! (3rd fl.)

BOYS' SPORT SHORTS at most satisfying prices can be had in the "Superman" Dept. of the Snellenburg Store. (3rd fl.) A popular number comes but $1.39 and comes in sizes 6 to 14. Sturdy cotton, washable—grays, greens, browns. An excellent cut $1.69 number, in cotton twill or gabardine, sizes 6 to 14, comes in tan and dark blues. A swank $1.95 model, in wanted sizes, comes in practical tan. Splendid slacks nearby, too, in spite of slacks scarcity. $1.95 to $6.45. Sizes 6 to 18.

PAPER VERSUS BRIDGERY. When you can get 5¢ paper tablecloths, paper napkins and paper plates, save endless work. Baskets, decorated, such as some of those the Snellenburg Stationery Dept. (1st fl.) is offering, they add cheer to breakfast, luncheon, or an informal supper. To say nothing of the festive touch to a real outdoor picnic. Table covers, 65x108 ins., only 25¢ each; napkins, 10¢ for thirty; 8-in. plates, 10¢ for a package of 6. Nice? Buy soon.

SAVING POETS by using them is wise buying. If the grocer can't deliver and the huge bags, why invest in a grocery cart, a good strong one? It pays in the end. The Snellenburg Housewares Dept. (3rd fl.) has the best grocery carts I've seen, and ones you won't be ashamed to tundle. Two sizes, $4.49 and $2.95. Strong wicker top and sturdy wooden splint bodies. Solid wood wheels and a strong "baby coach" handle. I'm buying!

6. Runover heels are untidy and are bad for posture and comfort. Have heels and soles repaired before too badly worn.

7. Keep shoes clean for clean, polished shoes are important to the well-groomed person's wardrobe. Get the correct cleaner or polish when you buy shoes and have your own shining equipment. There are two types of shoe polish—one for smooth leather and one for leathers with nap, such as suede and buckskin.

ON THE SCREENS

GRAND THEATRE

"Cinderella Swings It," which opened at the Grand Theatre last night, brings the well-known "Scattergood Baines" to the screen in a lively and tuneful patriotic musical.

Guy Kibbee is again starred as the benign "Sage of Coldriver," the lovable storekeeper made famous by the pen of Clarence Budington Kelland. Veering sharply from the formula employed in others of this series, Kibbee forgoes much of his philosophizing to devote his deeds and words toward organizing the civilian war activities of his thriving little community.

The film concerns itself chiefly with the staging of a revue for the benefit of the local USO drive.

BRISTOL THEATRE

The adre-pated Bert Vague again delights screen audiences with her Puckish brand of zantiness in "Swing Your Partner," now showing at the Bristol Theatre. Lulu Belle and Scotty head the cast, which features a large list of prominent radio names.

"Aerial Gunner," the exciting action film story of the Air Corps gunners, also at the Bristol Theatre, shows the important role the aerial gunners play in flying war fare.

RITZ THEATRE

He's Cupid... with hair! He's Romeo... with an accent! He's the Mad Russian of the air waves on the screen in a tidal wave of rhythm and laughter!

Learn what makes radio's mad Russian mad in "Let's Have Fun." Opening today at the Ritz Theatre, Bert "Mad Russian" Gordon has the leading role.

Men, Women! Old at 40, 50, 60! Get Pep Feel Years Younger, Full of Vim

Don't blame exhausted, worn-out, run-down feeling on your age. Thousands swear at what a little peping up with Citrus will do. Contain general tonic often needed after 40-by-bodies lacking one vitamin phosphate, Vitamin B. Introducing the new Citrus, Tonic Tablets now only 25¢. Why feel old? Start feeling peppy and younger today. At all drug stores everywhere—in Bristol, at United Cut Rate—(Advertisement)

YOU BET SHE'LL WAIT...

Many a brave young American has gone to serve his country, leaving behind the girl he loves. And she loves him, too, and promises to wait until that glorious day when he comes marching home. As a symbol of his devotion he places on her finger a ring... a sparkling token of his affection... to say "I love you" every second, every minute, every hour.

Beautiful ring with 3 fine diamonds.

BLACK SHUTS OUT DIAMOND NINE; IN OLD FORM

BRISTOL SUBURBAN LEAGUE

ROHM & HAAS and HUNTER'S
(Maple Beach Field)

Howard Black, who was pitching ball before many of the players in the Bristol Suburban League were born, turned in another beautiful mound performance last evening on the Maple Beach field as he shut-out the first half champions, the Diamond nine. Final score ended 1-0 with the Voltz boys scoring the winning run in the last half of the seventh inning.

Incidentally, it was the Diamond team's first defeat of the second half and in chalking up the win, Black only allowed one player to reach as far as second base, that being a steal by "Bill" Crossan when Schumacher failed to throw. Only three other Diamond players reached base and in all only 23 batters faced Black in the seven innings. He did not issue a pass and struck out three.

"Spike" Tryon did the hurling for the losers and matched Black pitch for pitch until the last half of the seventh. He was nicked for six hits which he scattered and gave up but one pass. Until the seventh, he did not allow a Voltz player to reach second base.

GIVES FIRST-AID TIPS TO BATTLE CLOTHING MILDEW

By Mrs. Katharine G. Moon
(Home Economics Representative)

Rain and humidity are launching the active season for mildew. This fungus growth not only leaves unsightly stains and a musty odor but also weakens fabrics such as cotton, linen, rayon and wool.

Mildew is subject to simple first aid and preventive measures. Fabrics should be treated while the mildew spots are fresh and before the growth has a chance to attack the fibers.

Washing with soap and water, followed by sunning usually will remove fresh stains. If they persist, moisten the spots with salt and lemon juice and place the fabric in the sun.

Old and stubborn spots are difficult and sometimes impossible to remove without damaging the material. Don't risk a bleach on colored fabrics, but on uncolored linens, cottons, or rayons a bleach, such as Javelle water, will do a satisfactory job of spot chasing.

When using Javelle water, place the stained fabric over a bowl and apply the bleach with a medicine dropper. Let the bleach remain on the fabric one minute and no longer. Rinse well and neutralize with ammonia using 2 tablespoons of ammonia to 1 gallon of water. Rinse well in clear lukewarm water.

Of course, an ounce of prevention is still worth a pound of cure. Where rains and humidity cause this fungus growth, common sense and some extra care often will prevent mildew attack. The first rule is to keep fabrics dry and well aired. An open jar of calcium chloride will absorb moisture in the closet but must be renewed from time to time.

NAZIS STOP MAKING DORNIER AIRCRAFT

ZURICH, Switzerland — (INS) — Production of Dornier aircraft, long the Luftwaffe's bomber standby, has been discontinued. It is reported here. Reason given is that the planes are now out-moded, owing to their excessive weight and low speed.

Workers from Dornier plants are being transferred to the Maybach and Daimler-Benz works. After the last British raid on Stuttgart, Dornier workers were sent there to help clean up the debris.
